It Caught You After

It caught you after.

Not when it happened.

Not when it formed.

Later.

When everything
had already settled.

You weren’t looking for it.

You had moved on.

And then—

you saw it waiting there
like it had always been that way.

It didn’t arrive.
You just returned.